What you need to know

All workers have a right to work in places where risks to their health and safety are properly controlled. Health and safety is about stopping you getting hurt at work or ill through work. Your employer is responsible for health and safety, but you must help.

What employers must do for you	What you must do	If there's a problem
 <ol style="list-style-type: none">1 Decide what could harm you in your job and the precautions to stop it. This is part of risk assessment.2 In a way you can understand, explain how risks will be controlled and tell you who is responsible for this.3 Consult and work with you and your health and safety representatives in promoting measures to prevent harm in the workplace.4 Free of charge, give you the health and safety training you need to do your job.5 Free of charge, provide you with any equipment and protective clothing you need, and ensure it is properly looked after.	 <ol style="list-style-type: none">6 Provide toilets, washing facilities and drinking water.7 Provide adequate first-aid facilities.8 Report injuries, diseases and dangerous incidents at work to our Incident Contact Centre: 0845 300 99239 Have insurance that covers you in case you get hurt at work or ill through work. Display a hard copy or electronic copy of the current insurance certificate where you can easily find it.10 Work with any other employers or contractors sharing the workplace or providing employees (such as agency workers, or that contractor's health and safety is protected.	  <ol style="list-style-type: none">1 Follow the training you have received when using any work items your employer has given you.2 Take reasonable care of your own and other people's health and safety.3 Co-operate with your employer on health and safety.4 Tell someone (your employer, supervisor, or health and safety representative) if you think the work or equipment/protective measures are putting someone's health and safety at serious risk.
